

UQÀM 2010

Day 3

Another crazy-busy-party day just went on!

Funny facts that started the day:

- UdeM moved during the night (in order to continue a long Law Games tradition, which is to get at least one couch out of a room!)
- Someone chose Osgoode floor to release his sphincters... leaving a great odor behind...
- If you need a efficient wake-up call, don't ask the lobby: ask for Labadie from Laval. He will sure wake all your delegation with his trumpet like he did on two floors this morning!!

Did you know that...
Law Gamers are irresistible... While waiting with his foot bleeding around in the hospital, Alex, from Sherbrooke, had to refuse a love declaration from a strange and unknown woman...

Warning!
Take off any king of jewelry + cut your nails during sports, in order to avoid accidents.

Jour 3

Un autre jour rempli vient de se terminer!
Faits cocasses qui ont commencé la journée:

- UdeM a déménagé durant la nuit (préservant ainsi une tradition des Law Games qui est de sortir au moins un divan des chambres!)
- Quelqu'un a vidé ses sphinctères sur l'étage d'Osgoode, laissant ainsi une odeur exotique derrière...
- Si vous avez besoin d'un réveil efficace, n'appellez pas le lobby. Demandez à Labadie de Laval. Il réveillera toute votre délégation avec sa trompette comme il l'a fait avec deux étages ce matin.

Attention!

Enlevez tous vos bijoux et coupez vos ongles pour les sports afin d'éviter les accidents!
